Member/Company	Orange
Initiative	Orange Graduate Programme

Overview

As a major player in digital and IT, Orange is a company focused on the future and its new technologies, challenging the needs of tomorrow.

Orange allows final-year engineering students or young graduates (less than 18 months of graduation) via its selective Orange Graduate Program to benefit from a tailor-made course in the Orange group for 4 years including operational missions, international experience, humanitarian commitment in associations supported by the Orange Foundation or collaboration with start-ups incubated by Orange, and in such way promotes openness and diversity, exposure and immersion in increasingly varied and innovative environment.

The Graduate Programme has already held over 500 graduates with 10 different nationalities, achieving a 50% gender balance in its participants.
